SEPTEMBER 10, 2023 | TWENTY-THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

23RD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother." - Mt 18:15

PARISH MISSION STATEMENT
 Devoted to Jesus Christ as disciples, we help others become disciples, and work to renew our culture.

FORMED

OUR VISION

That all who experience St. John Vianney Parish in any way find Christ irresistible.

Sept 10 Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time - formed.org

Review: Is there someone in your life you need to forgive? If we look deep enough, most of us will admit that there is someone we still haven't forgiven for something that was done to us; perhaps something that happened years ago. One of the great spiritual truths is that forgiveness is as much for ourselves as it is for the other person. If we do not forgive, we hold that person in bondage to their sin. And we hold ourselves in bondage both to the sin and the sinner as well. It isn't always easy to forgive. Sometimes we don't even want to forgive. We begin the process, and it is a process, by asking for the desire to desire to forgive. Eventually, as that desire takes root, we learn to let go of our mistaken notions about forgiveness and come to understand what forgiveness really consists of. Forgiveness doesn't mean that the sin doesn't matter. It doesn't mean that we forget something bad happened to us. It doesn't mean everything is "all better," and it certainly doesn't mean that restitution and justice aren't needed. True forgiveness is a free will action, prompted by God, that frees us from bondage. It's not an emotion; it's an act of the will. It's making a decision to let go of the chains that bind us, and then moving forward. Remember that the Lord tells us that everything can be worked to the good for those who believe, including the greatest of sins committed against us. One of the keys to having that happen is our cooperation with God's requirement to forgive. But first, we have to be willing to take that first step of the will.

Featured study: Forgiveness: It's more radical than you think

Reflection: After having given the "keys of the kingdom" to Peter in Matthew 16 (the Gospel reading two Sundays ago), we now see an aspect of the power to bind and loose that Peter receives being extended to the disciples. The Church itself is given a certain authority in the world. Reminiscent of the prophetic commission that we see in the first reading, Christians are to be "watchmen" over others who may stray from the truth. We have a prophetic responsibility, which we have received by Baptism, to speak honestly and directly to those in the Church (a "brother") who may begin to stray from the path of love that Paul describes in Romans. Jesus tells us that to guard against this simply being taken as a personal grudge by the one receiving the correction, we should go with others who can thereby make clear that this is not personal, but rather an objective matter of proper Christian conduct. You might be tempted to think that when Jesus says, "If he refuses to listen ... treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector," that he means reject him all together. But we need to recall that the person who recorded this Gospel for us was a tax collector named Matthew. And Luke tells us about how Jesus treated the tax collector named Zacchaeus (Luke 19). Likewise, St. Paul is sent to preach the good news to the Gentiles by Jesus (Acts 9:15). Sometimes Christian love will have to be tough love, giving clear signs of God's disfavor at sin, but love and mercy are to have no limits for those in Christ.

'Pope at Angelus: We are not alone on the path of life'

Taking his cue from the Gospel of Matthew in which Jesus asks the disciples: "Who do men say that the Son of Man is?" (Mt 16:13-20), Pope Francis said it is a question we too ask ourselves. Addressing the faithful gathered in St. Peter's Square for the Angelus prayer, the Pope noted that generally Jesus is seen as "a great teacher, a special person: good, righteous, consistent, courageous..."

But, he continued, this is not enough for Jesus who is not just an agent of history, a distant prophet: He is here for us today, He is God who is close to us!

The Holy Father went on to explain that Christ is not a memory of the past, but the God of the present.

Jesus, he added, is alive and accompanies us. "He is at our side, He offers us His Word and His grace, which enlighten and refresh us on the journey."

"He, an expert and wise guide, is happy to accompany us on the most difficult paths and the most inaccessible slopes."

Assuring believers that they are never alone on the path of life, he said Christ is with us and helps us on our way, as he did with Peter and the other disciples....Pope Francis said that if sometimes "the summit of Christian life seems too high and the path too steep," look to Jesus who walks beside us, welcoming our frailties, sharing our efforts and resting his firm and gentle arm on our weak shoulders.

Parish Announcements

Shepherds Field Olive Wood Handcrafts September 9-10, 2023 After all Masses, Church Vestibule

A group from the Holy Land will be selling religious articles after masses to support the Catholic Christian minorities in Bethlehem. As a tradition, many of the Catholic families in the Holy Land work in small workshops to produce religious articles from olive wood. These articles represent the Christian art of the Holy Land. In the past, they used to sell their artwork to pilgrims who visit the Holy Land. However, these days they are facing an economic hardship, as there are not many pilgrims visiting the Holy Land. Many of the Catholic families immigrated and left the Holy Land. The struggle to preserve the Catholic identity of the birthplace of our savior; Jesus Christ is a serious concern for Catholics around the world. Sales will be used to help and support the Catholics in the Holy Land and to encourage them not to immigrate.
